

New visions in spa pools

Add a visually stunning piece of Clearwater Structural Acrylic into your swimming pool or spa

Most swimming pools constructed today are designed not only to be enjoyable and family-friendly but are also designed to complement the outdoor surroundings. Pools are often designed to merge the inside lifestyle with the outdoor living areas and are often built as the standout feature of the property.

Spas are often an integral part of a swimming pool design, creating a relaxing yet fun and enjoyable space within the swimming pool zone. Have you considered including a spa window in your pool? Not only does it soften the look of the entire spa and pool but also incorporates a water view into the surrounding outdoor landscape. Rather than constructing a solid wall on your spa, why not incorporate a Clearwater Structural Acrylic window in your spa? It adds a visually stunning dimension to your spa and pool while providing a viewable window to keep an eye on your kids as they splash and play in the pool.

Clearwater Structural Acrylic windows provide the most effective way to bring your spa to life. Unlike glass, structural acrylic panels can be engineered to any thickness and shape to suit your requirement. Clearwater Structural Acrylic provides designers with great freedom, as the panels can be curved, textured and coloured. Single structural acrylic panels can be designed to suit any length and height and, unlike glass, will not shatter and do not contain laminates, which can be damaged by water. Structural-grade acrylic is not only significantly better looking than conventional glass panels but is also easier to install and maintain.

Clearwater Acrylic provides an easy and cost-effective solution to adding these magnificent structural acrylic panels to your spa, whether it's at design or construction stage, or whether you're looking at renovating your pool or spa. Clearwater Acrylic provides fully certified structural acrylics from a range of world-wide aquarium-grade structural acrylic manufacturers that fully comply with relevant international structural and optical standards. Clearwater Acrylic can also organise supply and/or installation of your spa or pool acrylic window, working with your builder to ensure you achieve the best results. Clearwater Acrylic has been involved in designing, supplying and installing aquarium-grade acrylic into spas and pools throughout Australia, including the design and installation of all acrylics in the 2010 Australian Pool of the Year Gold Award at the Chelsea Flower Show.

Acrylic is perfect for spa walls, as it has been designed for outdoor use in swimming pools and will not yellow or degrade under exposure to sunlight. Structural acrylic windows supplied by Clearwater Acrylic also carry a manufacturer's guarantee to maintain optical clarity and structural performance.

A well-designed and constructed swimming pool and spa is a wonderful addition to any property and can add significant lifestyle, aesthetic and property value. The incorporation of structural acrylic into the pool and spa design provides a visually stunning and unique enhancement to the pool, particularly when combined with appropriately selected pool interior finishes and lighting systems.
